Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) Program:
Translating Evidence into Practice

Date/Time: 28th September (Sun), 3:30 - 5:30pm
Venue: Lecture Room 209, Building 4B
West Area (Medical Area)
Speaker: Holli A. DeVon, PhD, RN, FAHA, FAAN
Associate Professor
University of Illinois at Chicago

Dr. DeVon is an expert on research and education in cardiovascular nursing and serves as a fellow of the Institute of Medicine Chicago, the American Academy of Nursing, and the American Heart Association Council on Cardiovascular & Stroke Nursing. In this lecture, she will introduce us a core course in the Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) program. Although this lecture is for students in the Doctoral Program in Nursing Science, anyone is welcome to attend.

With interpretation into Japanese!
Everyone is welcome!
